JUDGE DRUMMOND'S CHARGE AGAINST POLYGA-My. - The National Intelligencer disperses the doubts respecting the authenticity of this charge, by showing that the law under which it was delivered, though not among the Revised Statutes of the United States, as inadvertently stated by the reporter, is still a veritable and pertinent law, and may be er, is still a vertable and pertinent law, and may be found, verbatim et literatim, at the 187th page of the "Acts, Resolutions, and Memorials passed at the several Annual Sessions by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah," published at Salt Lake City in 1855 by "Joseph Cain, public printer." The law in question is levelled expressly at lewdness, under which head Judge Drummond, no doubt to the infinite amazement and wrath of Brigham, includes polygamy in the following unmistakable

In the foregoing section the Legislature has thought proper to pass a stringent law of a criminal character for the punishment of lewdness. This indeed was wise and humane on the part of those Legislators, and to us it seem that the Legislature thereby intended to provide a remedy for the correction of that crying and most loathcome, barbarous, cruel, black, and degrading evil, which seems to be one of the cardinal doctrines of the church prominent in cower in this Territory, polyvarny, or at least if they did one of the cardinal doctrines of the church prominer power in this Territory, polygamy, or at least, if they not intend it, they have virtually done what should been done many years since. The law is found in the band you as well as I are solemnly bound to give it force atility.

It is wholly useless and noonday madness for the Legislaure to pass laws, and for the Federal Government to send judges and attorneys here to execute those laws, if the mandate of one man, clothed with a priestly power and wholly unlearned in the science of the law, is to be permitted to thwart not only the action of the Legislaure of the Territory, but boldly and openly bid defiance and sportive rebellion against Federal authorities of the United States, and dictate to grand juries when to find bills of indictment and when not. These things cannot be endured in a Republican Government. All these men, therefore, who have publican Government. An these men, therefore, who have a multiplicity of women residing with them at the same houses are subjects for your investigation.

I have already instructed you that there is no law in this Territory authorizing the issuing of marriage license, or authorizing any one to perform marriage ceremonies, either in or out of the church; and, much as you may regret to do so, it is nevertheless your duty to respect the laws of the land, and prefer bills of indictment against all such as have not been legally married in some other country, and particularly when two or more women are living with the same man. These instances are too often seen and too much encouraged by the church here to insure respect from the divilized world, either at home or abroad; and even harbarous minds in your own country revolt at the sickening and truly teartrending spectacle of the masses of this Territory.

Duty follows you, gentlemen, in all the walks of life, at home and abroad, in the family circle, at the ballot-box, at your daily Christian devotions, and prominently so here, where the interests of the crushed and downtrodden appeal in thunder tones for relief at the hands of the laws.

This is forcible and manly, and, if the grand jurors of Utah have had the courage to do their duty, we hope that the extreme penalty of the law will be promptly enforced against the foul polygamists with as much of the power of the Federal Government as may be necessary to do it handsomely. It would be rare justice to break up and scatter this nest of unclean birds under the authority of their own legislative acts and omissions. And it does not appear to be wholly impracticable.

THE SOUTHWESTERN AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIA TION.—The meeting of the Board of Directors of the Southwestern Agricultural Association, to be held on Saturday next, will be a very important one to the interests of the Society. From the Henderson Commercial we learn that Mr. Parish, who has been for several years bor ing for salt and coal in that vicinity, will, in a very few days, be able to bring the strength of the salt water he has obtained to a positive and certain test. Mr. P. has the greatest confidence in his ultimat ecess, and, should his expectations be fully realized the facilities for manufacturing salt at Hender son will be equal to any in the country.

> (For the Louisville Bulletin.) MY PRAYER.

Two prayers are ever trembling in my soul; One is for love, the other fame; and both Unuttered; there's a fear that seals my lip Though every surge of passion bids me ask That gentle love may crown my girlish heart With rapture, or the clarion blast of fame Forever silence its deep call for love

Strange is the earnest warning of a weird. Prophetic voice, that bay and myrtle ne'er
Can twine; one decks the columns bright and high
Of proud ambition's fane, the other blooms
Within the deep home-chambers of the heart.
Both cannot make a chaplet for my brow;
Which must I choose?

When dark and lustrous ey
So lordly in their homage high, have taught
My soul a thrill, a wild and glorious thrill,
And made its wing upon the billowy swell
Of passion heave, then mocked at my true heart's
Deep worship at so false a shrine—when proud Deep worship at so false a shrine—when proud And earnest lips have whispered me a tale Of love and vowed to guide my soul in all Its dreamy wanderings and yet left it lone Upon the deert earth to roam—oh then I'd madly clasp the cold but deathless fame To my warm, passionate, wild-beating heart, With the strong, frenzied hope that it would chill Its every throb of tenderness and love.

To-night my soul's on fire—again it weeps O'er broken idols, vanished dreams. Dreams! vain And foolish dreams! Ye nevermore shall haunt The ruins of my heart. Unreal, false, Ye told me of a love that would have made Earth heaven—have won my every thought from God; But blessed angels broke my slumbering—broke The spell that thralled my spirit down to earth. Now I could pray that genius would light up
The spark Promethean in my soul—ascend
The throne of Fancy's wide and wild domainTouch with her glorious and mysterious hand
The chaos of my brain and bring it out
To life and beauty, that proud fame may bear
My name away, away, and write it high My name away, away, and write it high Amid the bright and gifted ones of earth-But oh! seal up the fountains of my heart! Forever hush its yearnings deep for love,

It whispers that the bay is wreathed with thorns For woman's brow—that myrtle is the best, The greenest leaf within her glory-crown. It bids me hear the spirit-guide within My heart; I listen, and it murmurs low Oh love me, only love me; this is now My prayer—this will it be forevermore.

THE COLD AND THE POOR .- Louisville has bee peculiarly blest in the small proportion of pauperism in her midst, but still there are among us many poo people who have not the means to obtain for them selves and their families food, fuel, and raiment for the winter. The number of these unfortunates in our city this winter is doubtless greater than usual on account of the long suspension of navigation, by which many were deprived of their usual employment, and the prevailing high prices of food and fuel during the past summer and fall. They need the attention and silently but strongly appeal to the sympathies of those among us who are able to contribute from our abundance to relieve the necessities of suffering humanity in our midst. To make our charities effective, some system of organization should be observed, and the Relief and Employment Association affords an excellent medium by which the benevolence of our citizens may be judiciously extended to worthy objects. Its efforts in past years have contributed greatly to relieve the necessities of the poor, and, from the system adopted by its benevolent and energetic managers, they are enabled to distinguish in most instances between real and pretended objects of charity. This Association has recently appealed to our citizens for aid in carrying out its charitable objects. It needs the means to purchase food, clothing, and fuel for the poor, or contributions in these necessa ries of life in lieu of money. We are sure its appeal will not be unheeded by those who have enough to spare, for it will not be forgotten that "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord."

ADVERTISING ROGUES .- Col. Forno, chief of the New Orleans police, has hit upon a novel plan of advertising rogues. It is to parade through the foreign bottoms not already exempt from such disstreets and public places of the city notorious thieves, burglars, and pick-pockets, their hands the while decorated with Pittsburg bracelets, and their proper titles placarded in large letters on their backs. The first victim was "S. W. Marshall, alias Bill Jackson, alias Wood, alias Reed." He was shown like a wild beast in the principal hotels and bar-rooms, with his full name and aliases, between his shoulders, and the supplemental phrase: "Is a notorious thief?" When Marshall first made his appearance in New Orleans, Col. Forno warned him to clear out within a day or he would make him become his own walking advertisement; but the warning was unheeded, and the threat was consequently carried into execution.

The Indianapolis Journal says that the suit brought by Gov. Wright to test the validi.y of the new State Bank has not been decided, as has been averred, by the supreme court, in its favor upon the main questions involved in the issue, but upon the ground that his interest in the old Bank, one share, was not sufficient to justify it. Another suit is now pending, viz: the State vs. the Bank, which will probably bring all the objections to its constitution ality fairly before this tribunal.

The only practical feature of the Savannah onvention was the assessing of each member two dollars to defray the expense of publishing its proceedings. This was a piece of humiliating inconsistency. If the convention had been half as logical as it was rhetorical it would have simply resolved that its proceedings be published, and adjourned without ever touching earth.

THE NORTH AND THE SOUTH .- We are glad to earn from the New York Observer that Rev. Drs. Humphrey and Hill have been successful, quite be yond their expectations, in collecting money in that city for the (O. S.) Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Danville, Ky. "A FIRST RATE NOTICE."-Capt. Rynders, who is prevented, according to his own story, only by his age from going out to join Walker, receives the following first-rate notice in the New York Tribune:

We feel confident that the Captain could be spared a few weeks by our city, and any insurance office familiar with the excellent care he takes of his precious life would insure it at a very low figure, even in Nicaragus. And any expe-dition into which the valiant Captain should throw himself might be considered tolerably safe from bullets while he di-rected its operations.

The Buffalo Commercial has heard of a pretty good thing recently said by Mr. Buchanan, in reply to a distinguished politician, who had assured the President elect that he wished for no office himself, and had no friend whom he desired to press for a place in the Cabinet. "But, sir," he continued, "I am not sure that I may not wish to keep some man out of it!" To which Mr. Buchanan replied: "It is easier to keep a man out than to get him in."

At Rome a most interesting discovery was recently made in a garden near the Piazza del Popolo. The owner of it, in digging a well, struck against a solid mass of stone, which on investigation turned out to be a colossal bust of Minerva, with the inscription "Populus Romanus Augusto Imperatori" carved on it; the length of the mose alone is sixteen inches. It has been purchased by the Pope for the Vatican

A Good Judge of a Horse.—There is no doubt Doctor Mason was a very good one. A brother minister in the city, intending to purchase a horse, stopped the Doctor on the sidewalk to ask his opinion. After taking a good look at him, Dr. Mason pointed to the knees of the horse, which were worn, indicating that he was in the habit of stumbling. "That," said he, "is a good sign for a minister, but a very bad sign for a minister's horse."

The Ocean Telegraph .- A Washington correspon dent says:

While the President and Cabinet have signified every disposition to aid the Ocean Telegraph enterprise, the application for assistance must go to Congress. The British Government has agreed to pay £14,000 annually for its use, and more if the actual tolls exceed that amount. The Company propose to take a less sum from our Government. In order to avoid the constitutional objections raised against the required appropriation, it is proposed to increase the Contingent Fund of the State Department be used for this object. If any law be passed, the Navy Department will detail a steamer to cooperate in laying the wire; otherwise not, as a partial dismantling will be necessary, which is not considered now authorized for such purpose. The Niagara was suggested for this service; but the Naval Architect has just reported that she cannot be ready for sea before May, owing to delay in completing the machinery.

Violation of the Mails in Kansas .- It is notorio that the mails to and from Kansas have been systematically violated. Gov. Geary finds this to be the fact, and says in one of his official dispatches:

Every package addressed to me through the mails is broken and inspected before it reaches my hands. It is entirely unsafe to send information through the post-office, and more especially so to use that medium to forward anything of pecuniary value. Postmasters are either ignorant of their duty and obligations, or, being acquainted with these, act in violation of both. Indeed, I have been credibly informed that in some places persons not connected with the offices are permitted to enter and overhaul the mails previous to their distribution. This is a serious evil upon which some prompt action is needed.

The tariff bill reported by Mr. Letcher to the House of Representatives is substantially that proposed by Mr. Houston in January, 1855. It makes uniform reductions of 20 per cent. on the duties of the tariff of 1846; transfers manufactures of silk to the 30 per cent. schedule; blankets and manufactures of flax to the 20 per cent.; manufactured wool to the 10 per cent.; raw silks, most crude dyestuffs, manu factured vegetable dyestuffs and dyewoods to the 2 per cent.; admits animals free; imposes an additional duty of 10 per cent, on all foreign importations in crimination by treaty or by act of Congress; makes the decision of collectors conclusive as to the liability of goods to duty, unless a written notice of dissatis faction be given within ten days, and an appeal be made within thirty days to the Secretary of the Treasury, whose decision shall be final and conclusive, unless a suit to recover duties be brought within thirty days. The act to take effect on the first of July next.

The following from the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin is both sensible and timely. We trust that the closing delicate stroke will bear no reproach to any of our readers:

any of our readers:

Custom declares that miscellaneous gifts should be given during the Christmas week, but that books are peculiarly appropriate to New Year's day, and for a week after. We are not informed as to whether the latter impression prevails very generally, although for the sake of general intelligence and knowledge, as well as for the interests of our bookselling friends, we could wish that it were known to every one. Books, which form at the same time the cheapest and most complimentary of gifts, come most appropriately as such at a time when the jubilee of a holiday is over, and the long winter evenings loom up, longer and more wintry than ever, in prospective.

There is one maxim in gifts which cannot be too frequently repeated—remember the children and the poor, for they are poor, indeed, who receive nothing at such a time. A little matter is a great joy to a "juvenile" at such a time, and we cannot but respect that hearty kindly feeling of the Germans, which prompts them to regard every child which receives no Christmas gift as deeply wronged, if not by in dividuals at least by fate.

The steamship Hermann, of the Southampton and Bremen line, is now out on her twenty-fourth day, and her long absence is the occasion of some anxiety. Letters received by her agents in this city state that she left on her regular day, and had seventy-one passengers, and between five and six hundred tons of freight. We learn that in the opinion of Mr. Sand, the President of the company who owns the Hermann, she encountered the same gale that compelled the America to put back to Liverpool, and that she was also obliged to return, and is not likely to be heard from until the arrival of the next European steamer. The steamship United States was once absent twenty-seven days, and others have been out nearly or quite as long. The Hermann is a very strong ship.

N. Y. Jour. Com., 27th. RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The weather turned colder last evening, and it was freezing hard. The river is about at a stand, with 5 feet water in the canal.

From the boat list it will be seen that a very large number of boats departed yesterday. Most of them will not be able to go further than Cincinnati.

The popular Carrollton packet Emma Dean is in port, and leaves to-day.

The Kentucky is the Cincinnati mailboat. The splendid steamer J. H. Oglesby, Capt. Ogles y, leaves for New Orleans to-day.

We find the following river intelligence in the Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday:

cinnati Commercial of yesterday:

Three pair of Kanawha salt boats, marked R. D., are reported high and dry on the ice below Vevay, with a portion of their salt out on the bank; also, another pair sunk along side of Vevay Island, and a produce boat from Cincinnatipiled out on the ice at Sugar Creek, with her cargo of whisky and flour out on the shore; also a metal boat, in the same condition, unloaded at Hog Creek. Licking gave evidence of a slight swell yesterday, and passengers by railway last night report the ice in the Little Miami inundated. The rise here is probably out of the latter stream. The Henton lies high and dr on the Kentucky shore, opposite the month of the Little Miami, and we understand the packet Scioto is piled out on the bank in the vicinity of Big Sandy, owing to the rapid decline in the river a few days since.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatch from

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatch from St. Louis, that the river is again closed at that point.

The St. Louis News, of Saturday evening, says. Nearly all the boats that have been laid up between here and Cairo have arrived. The Emigrant came in about dark last evening, and the Mansfield, Hartford City, Jesse K. Bell, Kate Sarchet, and U. S. Mail arrived before noon to-day. The Sallie West and Elvira may be expected in this afternoon.

day. The same west and revine may be expected in afternoon.

Yuba.—This boat, that got aground a few miles above town, about a week since, it is thought will prove a total loss. The floating ice cut through the hull, and the boat is now sunk in ten or twelve feet water, and the hull is in danger of breaking in two.

The Herald returned to port this morning, having been about seven miles above the mouth of the Illinois ziver, and pulled the Vienna off from where she was aground.

JUDGES, JURIES, AND NEWSPAPERS .- The question of the duties of the press in commenting upon the cases of criminals on trial before the courts has been recently discussed in New York. The discussion grew out of certain violent comments of a portion of the press upon the case of Huntingdon the forger and the course pursued by his counsel in defending him. Judge Capron, who was trying the case, made the following remarks upon the subject, and we think there is much truth and justice in and we think there is much truth and justice in them:

The press in this city, as a general thing, intend to give a faithful record of all that passes in the courts of justice; but they sometimes give their own opinions in relation to a cause on trial which excites public attention, which really, I think, it would be wiser and better, and would better premote the cause of public justice, if they would omit to do. After the trial is finished and the rights of the people and the prisoner have been determined and settled forever, editors have a right to publish, print, and read their own views upon the subject, provided they do it with the courtesy that belongs to gentlemen. While the action is trying, and so long as an influence may be exerted by the pressupen the jury (presuming that they read what is written). I think editors would promote the cause of public justice and manifest a very commendable desire that strict justice should be administered without reference to private interests or feelings of partizans, if they would refrain from interspersing their history of the proceedings with any remarks of their own. It is admitted on all hands that the jury should not read those remarks and views for the purpose of being influenced by them, and I think it would be a mark of great wisdom, candor, and fairness on the part of the jury if they would refuse to read anything that may appear in newspapers relative to liuntington.

If I were in their place, and desired to be entirely free from all kinds of bias, I would not rely upon the evidence which was to guide me as it is reported in the public prints. My own experience satisfies me that those papers, although with the best intentions in the world to give a truthful and full recitial of the testimony given by each witness, do not succeed in doing so. They give the language of the witness a different turn to convey sometimes (without meaning it) a very different meaning from what was intended. If jurors read and con over these statements in the papers and the recitem

The new year (1857) bids fair to commence with plenty of trouble in the bank note or paper money markets, all over the country. We hope our friends will excuse us in not enlarging on this subject, for fear we shall be charged, as formerly, with "panic-making."

The foreign letters received by the banking-houses, per Canada, express great confidence in a return to an easy money market, and that all danger of a financial crisis on the continent has passed a way.

The number of hogs received at North Madi son, up to Saturday evening last, was 38,285 head, of which Powell & Co. killed 29,888, Godman & Co. 5,568, and Bailey 1,820.

The Indianapolis Journal, of yesterday, says: The hog season may be said to have closed, although few are still killing by farmers and coming to town for sale. The number packed here is about 27,000—agains 67,000 hat year.

THE PIKE FORGERY CASE.—The Warsaw New Yorker says:

Yorker says:

The liabilities of N. N. Olin, whose forgeries we noticed week before last, so far as ascertained, amount to about $150,000. It hardly seems possible that such an amount as this could have gradually accumulated against a man of the visible means of Olin, and yethe escape detection so long. His rascalities have evidently run for a long time and yet he has been able to evade the eagle eyes of our moneyed men—for it is with this class chiefly that his operations were conducted. He has not been arrested, through sympathy, no doubt, for his ill health.

OLE BULL IN TOWN AND IN TROUBLE.—Ole Bull OLE BULL IN TOWN AND IN TROUBLE.—Ole Bull, the celebrated Norwegian violinist, was arrested yesterday morning by a Deputy Sheriff on a civil suit, and during the day "might have been seen" in the company of this agreeable companion and his own lawyer, wandering about the city in search of bail, which he finally obtained. Ole Bull came to this country fourteen or fifteen years ago on a professional visit, and remained here for some time. About five or six years back he brought over a Norwegian colony, which he settled in Pennsylvania. By the roguery of some of his agents, he became greatly involved, and has been since constantly engaged in litigation, which his unfortunate eampaign in the Academy of Music largely increased.

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSIONTuesday's Proceedings Concluded.

Senate.—On motion of Mr. Weller, a resolution was adopted calling on the President to communicate a statement of all the payments and allowances which have been made and of all the claims disallowed Gen. Scott from the date at which he joined the army in Mexico to Dec. 1, 1856; together with the correspondence on the subject.

House.—Mr. Washburn, of Illinois, rose to make good his former assertion that the Democratic papers of that State, for the most part, did not publish the resolutions of the Cincinnati convention endorsing Pierce's administration. Thus, by this omission, repudiating it. The Galena Courier and the Springfield Register admitted that they did not publish the resolutions.

Messrs. Marshall, and Harris, of Illinois, took issue, denying that the Democracy of that State avoided the doctrines and positions presented by the Cincinnati convention. The resolution endorsing Pierce was not a part of the platform. The Democratic State convention passed one of similar import, which was published by all the Illinois Democratic papers.

No Paper To-Morrow .- To enable the printer to observe New-Year's day as a holiday, the Bulletin will not be published to-morrow.

THE NEW YEAR .- There will be no Bulletin pub lished to-morrow, and, in advance, we wish our readers a Happy New Year. The observance of New Year's day as a holiday has become a timehonored custom throughout the country. It is season for entering into new and permanent engagements of every kind. There are few who hail the morning of the first of January without a determination in many respects to "turn over a new leaf." It is made the occasion of many good resolutions, too few of which are remembered till the close of the new year. It is not inappropriate at the commencement of a new era to review the past, and to form new determinations and aspirations for the future, to say to ourselves, and to plume ourselves for higher flights, and to fix our aims upon greater and nobler purposes to be attained during the year upon which we are about to

The citizens of Davidson county, Tenn., held a meeting at Nashville last week, at which a resolution was adopted appointing a committee in each district to serve notice on all free negroes who are residing there without authority to leave the State forthwith, and also to take the sense of the citizens on the propriety of expelling all free negroes from the State, and report to an adjourned meeting.

PRICE OF LIVING IN IOWA .- We learn from the Davenport Gazette that at present butter is selling at that place at 30 cents 7 fb, and eggs at 35 cents # doz.; chickens 25 cents; turkeys 75@$1 25; potatees $1 7 bush.; coal 16@18 cents; wood $6@7 7 cord. Everything of family use is now at about its highest point.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Fayette circuit court in the case of the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Company vs. the city of Lexington. By this decision the city of Lexington is required to issue its bonds to the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Company to the amount of $150,000 as stock in said company.

We learn from the Paris Citizen that Mr. Jas. Hall, of Bourbon, recently sold a jack, three years old last April, to Mr. John F. Payne, of Scott, for the large price of $2,400. The animal received the first prize at the State fair.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO RIVER .- The following is a copy of the bill introduced by Senator Pugh, December 11th. It was read twice, referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-tives of the United States of America in Congress as-sembled, That there is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the treasury not appropriated other-wise, the sum of fifty thousand dollars, for making topographical and hydrographical surveys to deter-mine the practicability and cost of improving the navigation of the Ohio river and its principal tribu-taries by a system of reservoirs, to serve as feeders navigation of the Omer and its pincipal thousards by a system of reservoirs, to serve as feeders in the period of low water, and also to avoid the destruction of property by great floods, according to the plan formerly submitted to Congress by Charles Ellett, Jr., civil engineer—the said sum to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior; and the surveys, with all the necessary observations measurements, recomposissness and estimates the surveys are composissness. servations, measurements, reconnoissances, and esti-mates to be made by such civil or topographical engineers, and under such general superintendence as the President may appoint and prescribe.

The following we take from a New York let-

A sad case of breach of promise is detailed. A young man, employed in one of the large clothing establishments of this city, was married yesterday at the residence of the bride's father. About an hour after the wedding an officer appeared at the door, and, upon being honored by the presence of the bridegroom, informed him that he must immediately do one of three things—pay down the sum of $10,000, find bail to that amount, or go to the Tombs. Of course he was much surprised at these demands, saying that he could not possibly raise the money, as an intimation of the facts would forever destroy him in the estimation of his father-in-law. His expostulations were uscless, and, excusing himself to the family by saying that he 'was going down town with a friend," he was marched off with the officer to the Tombs. It appears that the proceedings were instituted by a young lady of Newark, New Jersey, to whom he was also "engaged," and had agreed to be married on the day previous to his marriage in this city. The case, as usual, is said to have the cruel feature of the ruio of the credulous girl he forsook to obtain a wealthy bride in New York.

In the Circuit Court, on Wednesday, F. Ransom and oth-

New York.

In the Circuit Court, on Wednesday, F. Ransom and others obtained $20,000 damages against the city for infringing a patent improvement in steam fire-engines. The plaintiffs brought action to obtain $20,000 for violation of patent, and $60,000 for damages otherwise. The invention claimed is the following, as stated in the specifications: "Employing the pressure of a column of falling water, or the tendency of the hydraulic pressure, on water at rest, to assist in the working of fire-engines, by combining a hose or pipe, inducting said water with the receiving tubes of an engine or pump, operated by animal or mechanical power." The jury awarded, as stated, $20,000.

From a private source we learn that the celebrated Guizot has finally married the Princess Liewen, a lady not less celebrated in diplomatic and social circles. It is stated that the affair is kept a secret, or rather that it is a public mystery. The princess circles. It is stated that the analy is kept a secret, or rather that it is a public mystery. The princess still wears her former name, and the happy couple do not live under the same roof. Should this be really so, we are wholly at a loss to understand the reason, and our consideration for the character of the reason, and our consideration for the character of Guizot must sink considerably. Guizot is nearly seventy years old, and his lady-love is but a few years younger. The friendship commenced between them in 1840, when Guizot was the French Embassador at London, and while the Princess, once the celebrated beauty of the Congress of Vienna, and for eighteen years the acknowledged leader of the celebrated beauty of the Congress of Vienna, and for eighteen years the acknowledged leader of the highest haut ton in England, was residing there with her husband, then Russian Embassador at the Court of St. James.

After the death of the prince, she endeavored to be the diplomatic Egeria of the Czar, although she still continued to reside in Paris or London. The medium of this correspondence between her and Nicholas was her brother, Count Benkendorff, the predecessor of Count Orloff in the Emperor's confidence and favor. Since the death of the Count, in 1844, her real influence at the Russian Court has been on the wane; her influence, however, with Guizot and Louis Philippe rather increased, they believing that through her they might get a controlling hold on the Czar. Her salon at Paris has been most brilliant and renowned—the focus of all Europe for diplomatic scandal and petty intrigues.

The Princess, who, during the lifetime of her husband was known to direct the Embassy in London, preserved her taste for diplomatic intrigue, which she carried on with great delicacy, elegance, perspicacity, and grace. But she has lost her power; she has lost her credit in St. Petersburg, especially since, on account of her connection with Guizot, she has become one of the souls of the Orleanist faction. It is possible that the Princess, who is mistress of a large income, may have wished by a matrimonial connection with Guizot to secure to his old age the luxuries of fortune. But we can hardly understand how he came to accept this left-handed, humiliating alliance, in which his wife does not bear his honored name.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD. ome week or two ago the Nashville Union and American very petulantly and ill-naturedly charged Louisville with great selfishness in regard to the prosecution of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, particularly in endeavoring to complete at the earliest period a continuous line of the road from Louisville to Bowling Green. We make the following extracts from the reply of Gov. Helm to the Union and American. He shows that Louisville has been much more liberal than Nashville and that a large portion of the funds supplied by Louisville have actually been expended on the Nashville end of the road. Gov. Helm alludes to the proposition of the City Council to convert into cash $150,000 of the last city subscription, about which we may have something to say:

In the prosecution of the work, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad is laid off into five geographical divisions.

The first division, extending from Louisville south thirty mile-, is finished and in use.

The second division extends from the end of the thirty miles to Bacon Creek, within ten miles of Green river, including the crossing of the Rolling Fork and Muldrow's hill.

The third from Bacon Creek to the north bounda ry of Warren county.

The fourth from the last point to the Tennessee

The fifth from the Tennesseee line to Nashville. It so happens I have with me the last month's report of the engineer of the work done, and force employed on the road, and give you the result for November:

$22,051 88 548 299 This is the last estimate of work; but the proportion of work is not far from the same. The road from Bowling Green to Franklin, twenty miles towards Nashville, will be ready for the track within the month of April, if not before. Nearly the whole force employed in the State of Tennessee is concentrated at the first thirty miles and that in the great. force employed in the State of Tennessee is concentrated on the first thirty miles, and that in the greatest forwardness is next to Nashville, with the exception of a few sections. The whole line is under contract between Nashville and Bowling Green. There are twenty-one miles between Louisville and Bowling Green not under contract. The subscriptions to the road are generally local in their application, and the work has kept pace with the money furnished by each locality.

The distance between Louisville and Bowling Green is 113 miles; between Bowling Green and Nashville 72 miles. Whether the road from the one or the other end first reaches the Green river trade

Nashville 72 miles. Whether the road from the one or the other end first reaches the Green river trade will depend on which end furnishes the largest amount of available means. If I am to judge of the future by the past, I am constrained to believe that Louisville will get the start, because her citizens are determined to raise the means. I will engage, so long as I am at the head of the concern, every dolar each leadity furnishes will be faithfully applied. long as I am at the head of the concern, every dollar each locality furnishes will be faithfully applied according to the terms of subscription. There is but one rivalry which ought to exist between Louisville and Nashville, and that is, who will be foremost in their exertions to complete this great work.

You will pardon me, and I hope the community will take it in no offensive or invidious sense, if I state a few facts which I presume are not generally

state a few facts which I presume are not generally

Louisville has subscribed in her corporate capacity two millions in aid of the road. Five hundred thousand was raised in money by taxation. Her last subscription is to be paid in bonds. Her citizens came forward last spring and purchased of the bonds of the city $115,000 at 85 cents to the dollar. Her Council has recently submitted an ordinance to substitute $150,000 in money for bonds. Between one hundred and thirty and fifty thousand (I speak from my best recollection) of the money raised in Louisville by taxation was expended at this end of

The last million subscribed is directed in its application to be so expended as to secure a continuing of completed road out from Louisville. direction was but sheer justice to the city; it was wise because it is best calculated to secure the ultimate completion of the road. It is their money and they are entitled to the advantages of its expenditure. The counties along the line have made, some partial, some full levy and payment, of all arrears of interest. The county of Hardin has promptly levied and this year paid 90 cents on the $100 to levied and this year paid 90 cents on the $100 to make full payment of interest in arrears. The county of Warren has levied and full payment will be made, and a surplus levy to reduce some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars of her bonds.

Hart and Simpson have made large payments to-ward arrears of interest, and so has Sumner. Dawaru arrears or interest, and so has Sunner. Da-vidson county, though exempt by terms of sub-scription from the payment of interest on the first issue of $100,000 for one year, still owes some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars interest, neither paid nor levied. In addition to the sum stated as having been expended here and furnished by Louisville, the company has had to settle some twelve or fourteen thousand dollars ind damages within the fact five or six miles from Nashville. Nothing has contributed at this end for the locating survey nothing to pay a chief engineer or pres house rent, or charge for stationery, except the civil and local engineers.

By the consent of the city of Louisville and the counties along the line, the tax payers of Davidson county are made stockholders to the extent of their payment of interest, when by the laws in force at the time, and the terms of subscription, they were the time, and the terms of subscription, they were not entitled to it. There is but one man here who claims to be a stockholder by private subscription, and he only to the amount of $100. Since I have commenced operations, by the use of all the skill and energy I am able to employ, I have not been able to derive money enough from the Davidson county subscription to pay for the work dene in the county by thousands. I have been compelled to some extent for the time being to apply the funds of Sunner, where the citizens are coming forward and paying 80 cents to the dollar for their bonds. I have not been able, having due regard to the important interest which Davidson county had at stake, to dispose of many of her bonds. I have regarded a debt of $1,000,000 as of too much moment to a county to be trifled with, or wasted without accomportant interest which Davidson county had at stake, to dispose of many of her bonds. I have regarded a debt of $1,000,000 as of too much moment to a county to be trified with, or wasted without accomplishing the purposes contemplated. I was unwilling to offer her bonds at so low a figure as to render her rich fund powerless. If the citizens of Davidson are willing to raise seventy-five or one hundred thousand dollars on their own bonds at 75 cents on the dollar, payable monthly, I think I can insure them 30 miles of running-road by the first day of January, 1858.

It is but frank to say, that, whilst I am in charge of the expenditure of the money created, every dollar raised by the city or citizens of Louisville will be expended in the completion of a continuous line of road from Louisville. I gave to the Tennessee end of the road the same pledge. Every dollar raised by them will be faithfully applied to the construction of a continuous line of road out from Nashville. Kentucky will construct of this road 140 miles, if Tennessee will construct of this road 140 miles, if Tennessee will construct 45. I take it for granted Tennessee will construct 5. I take it for granted Tennessee will construct for one to their doors and expend their money. Louisville appreciates a connection with her Southern friends, and is stretching every nerveto accomplish it. Shall it long remain that this end of the line will fail to give the same earnest in the consummation of a connection so desirable?

INTERESTING FROM JAPAN-THE STRAMER SAN JACINTO.—A letter from a friend at Shanghai informs us that the U. S. steamship San Jacinto, the flag vessel of the East India squadron, arrived at Woosung on the 11th of September, in six days from Simoda, Japan. She left Hong Kong on the 12th of August for Simoda, having on board Mr. Harris, the U. S. Consul General to Japan. During her trip she rescued quite a number of Chinese from fragments of wrecks. fragments of wrecks.

The San Jacinto had a very pleasant visit to Japan, and the intercourse between the Commodore, his officers, and the Japanese authorities was of the most friendly character. It is said, however, to be the policy of the Japanese gov-ernment to oppose with every obstacle in its power foreign intercourse, and the arrival of the San Jawith Mr. Harris on board, was not desired.

cinto, with Mr. Harris on board, was not desired. In an interview with the Commodore, the question was asked, if he could not take Mr. Harris back again. The reply was, that his orders were, to bring Mr. Harris there and leave him, and he should obey them. Finding the Commodore thus decided, the authorities immediately set about to prepare a residence for the Consul Consul and for prepare a residence for the Consul General, and for that purpose fitted up one of their temples, near by a flag staff was erected, and from which, as the a flag Jacinto left the harbor, the stars and stripes

A Dreadful Typhoon—Loss of a Thousand Lives.—
The North China Herald, of September 10, which came to hand by the last steamer, contains the following account of a terrible typhoon and its appalling consequences.

The captain of a large junk from Bangkok has communicated the following note on the disasters occasioned by a typhoon he encountered on the 12th of August on approaching the Chusan islands from south: "We formed one of a fleet of 22 junks bound to various ports from Shanghai to Tientsing. the 12th day of the moon the wind blew furiously from the northwest, and suddenly chopped round from the south; seventeen vessels soon foundered and from the northwest, and suddenly chopped round from the south; seventeen vessels soon foundered and the remaining five were dismasted. We lost also both our double rudders. About one thousand men perished in that storm. In consequence of assist-ance liberally afforded by a steamer, we were saved from drowning and starving."—Phil. THE PANORAMA AT MOZART HALL .- There is carcely a man, woman or child in our midst who has not listened with interest for the latest news from the seat of war during the late contest between Russia and the forces of the allied armies of England and France. They now have an opportunity to witness a most excellent Panorama of those scenes of which they have read and heard so much. The painter has with great skill seized upon the leading features of the campaign, and transferred them with life-like naturalness to the canvas, and the fire of Varna, the gallant charge at Balaklava, the explosion of Sebastopol, and all the stirring incidents of the whole war, from its commencement to its close, are vividly represented.

Let all who desire to spend a pleasant evening attend the fair and festival to be given this evening by the ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Jeffersonville. We understand that Metropolitan Hall, in that city, will present unusual attractions, and that arrangements are being made to render this New Year's eve one to be remembered in our sister

LATEST NEWS.

BAROMETER. Last night, 12 o'clock : To-day, 12 o'clock. 29.93. : 29.79.

DESTRUCTION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LOUIS VILLE.-We regret being obliged to record the destruction by fire this morning of the splendid building of the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, situated at the corner of Eighth and Chestnut streets, with most of its contents. The most valuable part of the library and a portion of the costly apparatus were saved. The fire, which broke out about 8 o'clock, communicated from a stove in the chemical laboratory, and had progressed to such an extent that it was found impossible to arrest it. The museum, the finest and most extensive in the West, probably was totally lost, and it will be a long time before it can be replaced.

Enough of the apparatus, books, plates, &c., were saved to enable the Faculty to complete their several courses. The lectures will be continued at the Louisville Marine Hospital for the present.

The loss by the fire is estimated at fully $100,000, with $50,000 insurance. It is contemplated by several leading citizens to call a public meeting and raise by contribution a sum sufficient to replace the edifice destroyed. We have no doubt but that a magnificent building will soon be erected, far excelling in all its appointments that so unfortunately destroyed. The sympathy of the public is with the Faculty of the University in their severe loss.

We understand that the Kentucky School of Medicine has tendered to the Faculty of the University the use of their rooms and apparatus; and also invited the students to their lectures free of charge. This is generous and characteristic conduct.

It commenced snowing about 12 o'clock to-day and the prospect of hearing the jingling of the sleighbells with the setting in of the new year is very promising.

The R. J. Ward for New Orleans .- Reports have been circulated that this steamer had laid up. We are requested to say by Capt. Miller that the Ward will positively leave for New Orleans to-morrow at 4 o'clock. The Ward may have rivals but she has no superiors. Her accommadations as well as her fare are not excelled and seldom equalled either on water

The Virginia.- This steamer, in charge of the accomplished gentleman, Capt. Chas. F. Reynolds, passed Evansville yesterday, will arrive this evenng, and leave for New Orleans on Friday evening.

LECTURES MEDICAL DEPARTMENT UNIVERSITY In spite of the fire which consumed the splendid edifice of the Medical Department of the University. the regular didactic lectures will be continued without interruption. Through the kindness of the trustees of the Louisville Marine Hospital, the room devoted to clinical teaching has been offered to the Professors. The lectures, therefore, will, for the present at least, be delivered in that room, and will commence at the usual hour, 9 o'clock A. M., Thursday, January 1st.

[From the St. Louis Democrat.]

LA CRESCENT, MINNESOTA.—This new city in Minnesota, from its favorable location, its many advantages as a business place, and its rapid progress, is gaining great notoriety through the public press, and individuals who have visited it. It is situated on the west bank of the Mississippi river immediately opposite the town of La Crosse, a town of only four years' growth, but containing already about 4,000 inhabitants. La Croscent will no doubt be the terminus of the great railway connecting with the Milwaukee and La Crosse road at the latter place, and running west to the great bend of the St. Peters River, and on towards the Pacific. The new city is on a lovely site, and beautifully laid out. The main avenue running from the Mississippi back to the bluffs—about a mile and three-quarters—is 120 feet wide, and all other streets 80 feet. It is no doubt bound to be a big city, probably the city of the future State of Minnesota.

Fountain City Herold, Fon du Lac.

doubt bound to be a big city, probably the city of the future State of Minnesota.

Fountain City Herold, Fon du Lac.

The peculiarly favorable location of this young city, with some attendant circumstances, equally advantageous, which we propose to enumerate, impresses us with the belief that it will speedily become a leading commercial point on the Upper Missispipi. It is situated nearly midway between Dubuque and St. Paul, about two hundred miles from each. The whole of this vast and fertile region, stretching along the Mississippi between the two points named for a distance of nearly four hundred miles, and westward to the Rocky Mountains, is yet in its infancy. Its business will require many commercial towns upon the river in a few years, and the location now, which is most central and combines the greatest geographical advantages and facilities of access from the heart of this great region, must speedily become its commercial centre and metropolis. The banks of the Upper Mississippi present but few eligible locations for town sites—the bluffs on each side either shut in so closely as to leave no margin for a town, or, where a space intervenes, it is usually occupied by a swamp. Another difficulty peculiar to the Upper Mississippi is, that it is rare to find a good crossing, or eastern and western outlet at the same point; for almost a hundred miles either way, up or down the river from La Crescent, this difficulty exists, causing a concentration of the various roads leading east and west to this crossing, and requiring two steam ferryboats to do the business at this point. La Crescent thus becomes the key to the extensive country west of it, now being rapidly settled and brought into cultivation. Southern Minnesota is the most beautiful and fertile region in the Northwest. A late valuable and exceedingly interesting work on Minnesota, by Nathan H. Parker, Esq., thus speaks of this favored region: "One of the most fertile and beautiful portions of the Territory lies between South Bend and the lowaline. The Fountain City Herald, Fon du Lac.

The bane of Iowa has been that its lands were The bane of lowa has been that its lands were open to entry by speculators, and large districts of the finest lands in that State being thus held, will remain without settlement or cultivation for years to come. Profiting by this lesson the lands in Minnesota are not subject to entry by speculators, but are held by the Government for actual settlers only. The consequence is, that the southern portion particularly is now being rapidly and compactly settled and brought into cultivation by an industrious and enterprising class of emigrants, who at once go to brought into cultivation by an industrious and enterprising class of emigrants, who at once go to work to improve and develope their future homes. The good effect of this policy is evidenced by the compactness of the settlements, the substantial improvements which are being made in every section, and the rapid increase of the resident population of the Territory, increasing in two years from 70,000 to over 200,000 in numbers.

The cities of Keokuk, Burlington, Muscatine, Davenport, Clinton, Lyons, and Dubuque, as is well

The cities of Keokuk, Burlington, Muscatine, Davenport, Clinton, Lyons, and Dubuque, as is well known, are all rapidly increasing in wealth and population; all of these places are situated along the west bank of the Mississippi in the State of Iowa, and are dependent principally upon the country west of them for support. By reference to the map it will be seen that almost as great an extent of country will be directly tributary to the principal central commercial point on the west bank of the Mississippi in Minnesota, as of all these flourishing cities combined can boast. The land in this section is certainly not inferior to that of Iowa, and the policy of the Government, as we have shown, is producing a healthier settlement upon it, and one that will more speed ily and certainly develope its resources.

The Milwaukee and La Crosse Railroad, by the aid of the late munificent grant of lands from Con-aid of the late munificent grant of lands from Congress, will be speedily completed to La Crosse, thus giving a continuous and unbroken line of railway from this point by way of Chicago to New York. It will be the first railway penetrating to the Mississippi above Dubuque. For 100 miles south of its terminus and 200 miles porthof it there is no rilled. pi above Dubuque. For 100 miles south of its ter-minus, and 200 miles north of it, there is no railroad projected nor any probability that one will be built for several years. Taking its terminus at La Crosse as the center, there will be an extent of country of 200 miles in width upon the Mississippi, and run-ming back to the foot of the Rocky Mountains, which must be directly tributary to this road.

must be directly tributary to this road.

This vast and fertile region, as we have before remarked, is being rapidly settled and brought into cultivation. La Crescent, as we have shown, is the key to tt. All the products of this section seeking a market East must come to La Crescent to be shipped by this road to Chicago and Milwaukee, and thence by lake or railroad—while all the goods, farming utensils, and articles of every nature, imported from the East to supply this section, must come upon this by this road to Chicago and Milwaukee, and thence by lake or railroad—while all the goods, farming utensils, and articles of every nature, imported from the East to supply this section, must come upon this road to be distributed from the same point. Situated as it is upon the immediate bank of the "great river," with a splendid steamboat landing, the facilities for shipment to and from the South, which have hitherto been the chief source of prosperity to the cities upon this river, will of course be as good here as at any other point. With these remarkable and peculiar advantages, it must soon become the main depot and entrepot of the Territory, and therefore its principal commercial point.

By an examination of the map of Minnesota, it will be seen that the St. Peters or Minnesota river, which cuts through the heart of the Territory, makes a deep bend to the south at nearly a direct point west from La Crescent, then bearing suddenly to the northeast, empties into the Mississippi above St. Paul. A railroad from La Crescent to the big bend of the St. Peters river at Mankato would be only about 140 miles in length, while the distance of transportation between these two points now, by water, is near 400 miles. This railroad would traverse the richest portion of the Territory, and give direct and speedy facilities to the East by its connection at La Crescent with the La Crosse and Milwaukee road.

Mankato, from its central position, its favorable

tion at La Crescent with the La Crosse and Milwankee road.

Mankato, from its central position, its favorable location on the St. Peters river, and the superior agricultural region which surrounds it, is destined to be one of the principal cities in the interior of Minnesota. This tact is already so generally understood, that almost every projected railroad in the Territory makes Mankato either the terminus or a point upon its proposed line. Of course the business of Mankato, and of the country which surrounds it, will seek a railroad connection with the Milwaukee and La Crosse road, as being not only the most direct, but onty available route (for many years) East.

The valley of the Hokah river, emptying into the Mississippi at La Crescent, furnishes an easy grade and favorable outlet for a railroad west from this point. The main territorial road from the west now reaches the Mississippi at La Crescent, through this valley, and was located here on account of its accessibility. One of the first railroads of the Territory, and perhaps the very first, will be a continuation of the La Crosse and Milwaukee road, westward from La Crescent to Mankato, as indicated above. A company has already been incorporated for this purpose, and its importance and easy practicability render its accomplishment certain at an early day. Congress has made liberal grants of lands for railroad purposes to all the surrounding States of the Northwest. It is fair to presume that Minnesota will not be made an isolated case of denial. Applications are now before that body in her behalf. Should grants be made, there is no projected road in the Territory of more prominence or importance than the La Crescent and Mankato road. But whether it receives aid from this source or not, the wants of the Territory and the interests of the Milwaukee and La Crosse Railroad Company will cause it to be built at no distant day.

The two roads being completed from Milwaukee to La Crosse and from La Crescent to Mankato will give a continuous line of railway running due west from Lake Michigan to the heart of Minnesota Territory, traversing one of the finest agricultural regions in the Northwest and in a direct line to connect with the main trunk railroad by the Northern or Gov. Stevens's route to the Pacific.

The Milwaukee and La Crosse road, though not completed, is already one of the best paying roads in the United States, which shows conclusively the wealth and productiveness of the country through which it passes. When it shall tap the Mississippi and receive the abundant freights from the broad and fertile fields of Southern and Western Minnesota, no railroad in the Union will do a heavier or more lucrative business.

The direction of commerce is from the West to the East. The current of trade by an inevitable law drifts steadily Eastward towards the great commercial marts on the Lakes and seaboard. It follows that towns located upon the West bank of large streams become depots at which bulk is broken, lows that towns located upon the West bank of large streams become depots at which bulk is broken, trans-shipment effected, and a corresponding local trade established.

trans-shipment effected, and a corresponding local trade established.

A few years ago, shrewd, far-sighted men, understanding this principle perfectly, invested heavily in Keokuk, Davenport, Dubuque, &c., and later in the flourishing city of Clinton. These were then small and apparently unimportant points, but the vast and fertile country west of them being rapidly settled and brought into cultivation, and the unchanging tendency of trade from West to East (to which we have just alluded) coming up steadily to their support, from this productive region, has swelled them all into prosperous and populous cities, and made fortunes for those who foresaw the favorableness of their positions and the inevitable prosperity which must follow in the development of the country west of them. The most enormous profits have been made at all these points. Investments of $1,000 have frequently realized $20,000 in a few years, but the value of property in most of these cities, now, is so generally appreciated that the broad margin of profits, which once existed, can no longer be obtained or expected.

Those who were too late to get a finger in these profits can only avail themselves of the lesson which profits, which once existed, can no longer be obtained or expected.

Those who were too late to get a finger in these profits can only avail themselves of the lesson which the history of these cities teaches, and endeavor to find their duplicate in the yet undeveloped regions of the Northwest. In this article we have endeavored to show that such a duplicate now exists; that the broad and fertile lands of Minnesota are susceptible of the same rapid settlement and productiveness which have been demonstrated in lowa, unattended by some of its drawbacks; and that the young city—which we have placed at the head of this article, from its geographical position, and the various sources of prosperity which we have enumerated—possesses in a remarkable degree the elements and advantages which indicate with almost unerring certainty the uprising and rapid and permanent growth of a leading commercial point.

NOT ALL GONE YET!

In order to prevent any impression in the community that might arise in reference to our recent loss of Silks by robbery, "that we have no Silks left," we take pleasure in saying to our customers and the trading community generally, that we still have the finest assortment of fancy Silks and elegant Flounced Robes to be found in the city, as well as quite a line of plain black Silks, which we will continue to sell at our usually low prices, and solicit the early calls of all. In a few days we will have our stock fully replenished with every grade of black and solid colored Silks, when our friends will find it to their advantage to call on us. We are now offering to the public the largest and best selected stock of Dry Goods and Carpets ever brought to this city, and, what is still better for those wishing anything in our line, we are selling them much cheaper than any of our competitors. Call and see.

LADIES' FURS AT REDUCED PRICES. HADIES' FURS AT REDUCED PRICES.

HAYES, CRAIG, & CO. are making quite a stir among the ladies in consequence of the low price of their Furs. Having on hand much too large a stock for the season, and much of it too fine for this market—at least the ladies think so—(they do not wish to humbug their customers by "selling at cost")—have reduced their prices very materially, and are now furnishing the ladies with Furs of every description at much lower prices than they were ever before retailed for in the Western country, and intend to do so until after Christmas, which will afford a good opportunity to all those who wish to make Christmas presents. There certainly is nothing more seasonable for such purposes; and gentlemen inclined that way will find our Furs so low that they are within the reach of all.
